Where the data comes from:

The report looks for an open requirement of the type and code specific when running the report. It then looks at the names assigned to the case to see if there are any active assignments from the selected agency.

If there is an active assignment, the report will display the name of the person with the requirement, the name of the requirement, start date, number of days it has been open, and scheduled end date. The next court is looking for and reporting the next scheduled event on this case.
