Where the data comes from:

The report will look for all cases where there is an assigned role with a start date during the time period specified. If found, it will then look for a case status that matches the "disposedCaseStatuses" setting in the report. If found it will add the numbers of days to disposition to the average for that type of case. It will then look at the statutes and find the highest severity. It will look first at the filed statutes, but if none are found, it will look at the incident statutes.
